The Story

Father was very angry - his daughter had secretly seen Eddie, her old sweetheart, and the following Saturday she was to marry Hector. At that moment Eddie was somewhere in the house, but to all appearances had vanished into thin air. Father, Mother and the colored man were all chasing around the house with various implements of torture such as clubs, spears, etc. Father had sent for Hector to have the wedding right away - he arrived all out of breath and joined in the chase.

While Father, Mother and the colored man were scattered over various parts of the house searching, Eddie who was hiding in a suit of armor, looked out and seeing his rival admonishing his fiancée, prodded him with the spear. The colored man coming back just then from his search armed with a spear promptly got blamed for it. Matters proceeded along this line for a while - everybody's temper was at high tension - then Eddie stole up to his fiancée's room and the colored man seeing the armor missing gave vent to a series of shrieks and howls which put the folks wise that Eddie must have walked off in the suit of armor. They commenced to search with renewed vigor and "Oh, if they could only lay their hands on that suit of armor", but Eddie had put Hector in the armor and when they did lay their hands on it Hector got the pounding.

Hector chased Eddie out to the garage, but got locked in. Eddie then found that the police had received instructions to let no man in except the Minister. His fiancée threw him a note out of the window, but it was intercepted by a cop. On getting up a tree Eddie read it over the cop's shoulder. He then got dressed up in the inspector's hat and coat while that worthy had his back turned and went in presumably to interview the daughter.

He was discovered and had to fly for his life, the cops in pursuit. He eluded them, went into a store and came out dressed as a Minister. Hector, had at last been allowed in the house, after being mistaken for the wrong man too many times for his comfort. All was ready for the wedding. Eddie dressed as the Minister walked in right onto Hector's feet - Hector bent down in his agony - Eddie helped himself to the license from Hector's hip pocket. Then began a search for it. Meanwhile the real Minister arrived. During the search Eddie endeavored to get married to his fiancée, but was found out and interrupted so many times that the Minister walked out exasperated.

Father and Mother took their erring daughter away in the car to be married. Eddie got on the spare tire behind, but it fell off in the road. "Love will find a way" however and Eddie bought a car and started in pursuit. Father's car had to stop on the way for water and while Father, Mother and Hester went for some liquid refreshment Eddie arrived and walked off with Father's car and daughter. Father started in pursuit, but Eddie fooled them by getting on the back of a truck with the Minister and was just being pronounced man and wife when Father, Mother and Hester whizzed by in his car in pursuit of - as they thought - the runaways.

The End.
